

ATOS ARCHIVE MID-YEAR REPORT

There is not much more to say than what was reported by Jeff Weiler.

Over the Thanksgiving weekend we had some water damage to the building. The building sustained about $100,000 water damage. The Archives had a little water come into a hallway. There was no damage to anything we have stores there.

Dolores and I have been going through the Lawrence Birdsong material and have been weeding out the personal material. None has been discarded.

We are eagerly awaiting the Board's decision of relocating. As you are aware of, the University will be moving to our floor late in the spring of 2010. This will be phase 2 in the building construction.

Due to the ongoing construction in the building, we have not spent much time at the Archives.

Everything is secure and we have asked the theatre management to be aware that no one is to be in the office unless I am there. Needless to say, that if there is an emergency, the building engineers must be able to access the office.
